Burndown

Explanation:

We took into account that most of us will have midterms for the first week, therefore the graph looks as in tended. After the midterm, our velocity caught up since we reduced our total point compared to last sprint.

We are able to finish the tasks within half the sprint. It seems like we overestimated some of our tasks. Next sprint, we will re-evaluate our tasks with more rounds of poker play. However, the points should be around 60 for our last sprint to ensure we do not run into the problem in our sprint2.